RULES of Mixed Martial Arts (MMA)

INTRODUCTION

Mixed martial arts (MMA) is one of the most popular martial arts in the world. It is connected to the maximum possible number of technical actions, used by athletes. The procedure for deciding the winner in the sport is subject to the logic of the most simple and natural criterion - the refusal of an opponent to continue the fight or getting over an opponent of complete obvious advantages. It is a dynamic, exciting sport, adapted to the needs of a modern audience.

This text is addressed to a wide audience - athletes, coaches, referees, spectators and commentators for the following reasons:

- Understanding of the rules allows the use of best practices for sports training and tactics of the fight, which contributes to personal development of an athlete, his manifestation of sportsmanship; -

Understanding of the relationship and the essence of the rules allow judges to make objective and timely decisions.

Children and youth competitions in mixed martial arts (MMA) are one of the elements of the physical development of the child and the stage of preparation of athletes of top-level sportsmanship. The basic principles of competitive practices in children and adolescence are:

- from the simple - to complex: a gradual and logical transition from simple technical elements to more complex defined by a set of permitted and prohibited items in the technical events of different age groups

- Maximum smooth, unforced development of the child's body
- The maximum reduction in the risk of sports injuries in children's and youth competitions.

This part of the Rules describes mixed martial arts as a contemporary sport, directed to competitive activity, then reveals its main qualities which should be realized for refereeing.

MIXED MARTIAL ARTS (MMA) IS A COMPETITIVE SPORT

Competition is the place for the highest manifestation of an athlete, his creativity, fortitude and courage. Rules are subject to all the manifestations of these qualities.

Mixed martial arts (MMA) – is a full contact bout of two athletes using shock techniques and fight in the posture and in par terre. The origins of the sport date back to the period BC. Unlike the ancient martial arts, modern mixed martial arts (MMA) are based on clear rules strictly governing the behavior of athletes and preventing cruelty.

Mixed martial arts (MMA) uses techniques pertaining to 67 kinds of martial arts. The athletes always face problems, firstly, universalism - the constant expansion of its technical arsenal, and, secondly, the task of conducting a fight considering its prevailing skills and qualities and skills and understanding the prevailing qualities of an opponent. In this sport athlete is forced to react instantly to counteraction, to anticipate a possible attack and hide their attacking intentions.

Despite the differences in the rules applicable by international and national promotion group during the fights, the essence of mixed martial arts (MMA) remains unchanged. Differences concern the place itself for the fight, its duration and the list of permitted and prohibited activities.

Need to expand the tactical and technical arsenal of the athlete, high demands on his athleticism and endurance, the ability of individual expression and constantly takes courage - all this makes mixed martial arts (MMA) a spectator sport.

MMA CODE OF ETHICS

The Sport of MMA showcases the most complete Martial Arts competitors.

Any fight does not only celebrates the winner but equally honors two opponents trying to give the very best of themselves. The beauty of the fight is that the important is not only to win but to fight well. Both competitors elevate each other by adopting such ethical behaviours.

The goal of any fighter is to win by adopting this philosophy and by respecting jointly both their opponent and the MMA competition rules.

The ethical behaviour of any fighter lies under scrutiny of the referee who controls the spirit of the fight in the best interest of the sport of MMA and its code of ethics.

This code is adopted by competitors, referees and coaches.

ROLE OF REFEREE IN THIS STRUCTURE

While determining a winner referees in the ring and side referees have voting right.. The essence of the notion “a good judge” lies in the concept of justice and consistency:

- to be just to each participant
- to be evaluated by spectators and participants of a fight as just.

It requires a huge element of trust. Besides the referee in the ring is one of the protagonists of the match. He, like the entire judging panel, is entrusted to create the conditions for athletes to demonstrate spectacle:

- correctness of his decisions
- understanding the essence and logics of rules
- actions of a skilled organiser, directing the course of the fight and the competition to their logical completion

- acting as a tutor – using rules to punish dishonesty or to warn against rudeness

- promoting the match - that is, making it possible to highlight the spectacular elements of the sport and allow athletes to showcase their best qualities to the audience.

In conclusion it's noteworthy that a good judge should use rules to make a fight separately and competitions in general a real event for all those concerned.

For those who have read this - consider the following rules as the current state of mixed martial arts (MMA), but keep in mind that the above may also be important for you to determine your own position in the sport.

Be uncompromising in the ring and compassionate in life!

These Rules of sport "Mixed martial arts" (hereinafter - the Rules) are made taking into account the basic requirements of the Technical rules and Rules of open competitions in mixed martial arts of the World MMA Association (World Mixed Martial Arts Association - WMMAA) (hereinafter - WMMAA), are mandatory for organizations conducting competitions in mixed martial arts. During the competitions, in the event if sport situations occur that are not covered by these Rules, they shall be treated according to the WMMAA Rules.

Officials (team leaders, coaches, athletes and judges) taking part in competitions are obliged to be guided in their actions by the applicable Legislation on Physical Culture and Sports, these Rules, as well as Regulations and Provisions on the competitions approved by WMMAA.

PART 1

Chapter 1. NATURE AND METHODS OF HOLDING THE COMPETITIONS

1.1. Nature of holding competitions

1.1.1. By their nature competitions are divided into the following types:

- Individual: individual results and ranks of the athletes in each weight category are determined
- Team: rank of each team is determined (non-official point-count)
- Individual and team: individual results and places of the athletes in each weight category and places of each team by the sum of credits of the team athletes in individual competitions are determined (non-official point-count).
- In individual and team competitions the team results are determined by the sum of credits of the team athletes in the individual classification of the competition.
- In the team classification the winner is a team scoring the highest total points as a result of achievements of the team athletes in the individual classification.

Rating (professional) combats are competitions in which the result of each combat is recorded in the individual rating of the athlete.

- Rating (professional) combat in MMA and a combat by the rules of amateur MMA have no fundamental differences, as they are one sport. The format of rating (professional) combats in MMA is characterized by the fact that in rating (professional) combats the competitors know each other in advance.
- Each athlete participating in rating (professional) tournaments in MMA maintains a list of fights held (RECORD): number of wins, defeats, draws, based on which (the list) his (the athlete's) individual rating is determined. The athlete's rating may vary depending on further participation in the MMA tournament and the number of wins and defeats.

1.2. Methods of holding competitions

1.2.1. The competitions may be held

- according to the Olympic system, when a participant (athlete or a team) withdraws from the competitions after the first defeat. Competitions according to the Olympic system are held if there are 2, 4 or more participants.
- round-robin competitions, where a participant (athlete or a team) competes with each of the other participants once, regardless of the number of competitions. Round-robin competitions are held when there are 3 participants.

1.2.2. Preliminary combats are held when the stated number of participants in one weight category is over 16 athletes. Head judge defines members of qualifying fights during the drawing for the competitions.

1.2.3. In competitions held according to the Olympic system, the winner in one weight category is an athlete winning all the combats. The winner scores 10 points for the team classification.

- an athlete losing the final takes the 2nd place and scores 8 points for the team classification.
- athletes losing the semifinal take the 3rd places (two third places) and each of them scores 6 points for the team classification.
- athlete losing the quarterfinal to the champion takes place 5 and scores 4 points for the team classification.
- athlete losing the quarterfinal to the silver medalist takes place 6 and scores 3 points for the team classification.
- athletes losing the quarterfinal to the bronze medalists take place 7 (two seventh places) and score 2 points for the team classification.

1.2.4. In round-robin competitions, the winner in one weight category is an athlete scoring the highest total points. The winner scores 10 points for the team classification.

- an athlete scoring the second total points takes the 2nd place and scores 8 points for the team classification.
- an athlete scoring the lowest total points takes the 3rd place and scores 6 points for the team classification.

1.2.5. Round-robin competitions scoring:

- win inside the distance in any round (1, 2, Extra): 3 points.
- win by points: 2 points.
- if the opponent did not come out to fight: 2 points.
- win by points in Extra round: 1 point.

If two or more athletes have equal total points the following additional indicators are sequentially taken into account:

- the best result in head-to-head battles;
- more inside the distance wins;
- less inside the distance defeats;
- less individual body weight.

1.2.6. In the team classification the winner is a team scoring the highest total points as a result of achievements of the team athletes. The next places in the team classification are assigned by descending total points scored. If two or more teams have equal total points the following additional indicators are sequentially taken into account:

- number of 1st places taken by athletes in the individual classification;
 - number of 2nd places taken by athletes in the individual classification;
 - number of 3rd places taken by athletes in the individual classification;
 - number of places taken from 5th to 8th;
 - number of places taken from 9th to 16th.
- The following is taken into account in the second place:
- number of inside the distance wins by teams athletes throughout the competition (the stage of the competition is taken into account: final, 1/2, 1/4, 1/8, 1/16, 1/32).
- The following is taken into account in the third place:
- the shortest combat of the team athlete in the competition (the stage of the competition is taken into account: final, 1/2, 1/4, 1/8, 1/16, 1/32).
- If the above indicators of the team classification are absolutely equal, or if there are no inside the distance wins in the competition, the number of points scored by athletes are counted based on the records of side arbiters (the sum of superiority by points of all of the side arbiters, and the stage of the competition are taken into account: final, 1/2, 1/4, 1/8, 1/16, 1/32).
- If additional indicators did not assign the places - teams share the place taken.

2.7. MEDICAL EXAMINATION

2.7.1. Medical examination, like the weighing procedure, takes place at the time-period designated by a head judge that is defined for each weight category separately.

2.7.2. A medical examination is performed by a doctor of the competition which examines the athlete's skin, checks the length of athlete's nails on hands and toes, and also performs the necessary actions associated with comparing medical certificates and the current condition of an athlete.

2.7.3. An athlete shall undergo all the procedures of medical control and weighing in shorts, swimming trunks or underpants.

2.7.4. A doctor performing medical examination shall indicate the date of examination in the competitor's card and affix his signature to certify the athlete's admission to competition.

2.7.5. Should any counter-indications to participation in the competitions or extra weight upon completion of weighing-in be detected, an athlete is disqualified and should be replaced by a standby athlete of the same weight category, also being in the list of the team application.

2.8. WEIGH-IN

2.8.1. Weigh-in is held on the day of the competition.

2.8.2. Suggested time of the weigh-in: 08.00-10.00 a.m.. The time can vary based on the number of registered contestant, but not later than 2 hours before the time of the competition.

2.8.3. Weigh-in is conducted by a panel of judges nominated by a head judge.

2.8.4. All the judges conducting weigh-in should be dressed in the judge uniform of the sample established in the Rules.

2.8.5. The right to control try-outs on the scales intended for official weigh-in shall be granted to the participants within 1 hour prior to weigh-in procedures.

2.8.6. Official weigh-in is made only once.

2.8.7. In case of athlete's overweight no time is given for his cutting weight. In this case, an athlete is disqualified or may be replaced by a substitute athlete of this weight category, who is also included in the lists of the team application. If no replacement takes place, the team has no participant in this weight category.

2.8.8. A participant who is late or does not show up for his weigh-in without a valid reason is not allowed to competitions.

2.8.9. The weigh-in results are registered in weigh-in protocol and in the competitor's card.

2.8.10. In individual competitions, an athlete has the right to participate only in the weight category established for him during weighing.

In team competitions, an athlete has the right to participate only in the preliminarily established weight category or in the next, heavier category.

2.9. DRAWING OF COMPETITORS

2.9.1. The obligations to organize and hold drawing procedure are imposed on chief secretary of the competitions.

Drawing procedure should be open for the competitors (athletes, team representatives, officials).

2.9.2. The main goal of the drawing procedure is to distribute the competitors in the tournament bracket.

2.9.3. The principles of the drawing procedure:

- "blind" draw – all athletes participating in the competition are distributed in the tournament bracket by accidental attribution of sequence number to them;

- "rating" draw – athletes taking part in the competition are distributed along the tournament bracket in accordance with individual rating of an athlete;

"combined" draw – the system of distribution along the tournament bracket from 4 to 8 athletes having the highest rating compared to the remaining participants is applied, with a view of conducting fights among these athletes at later stages of the competition. The remaining participants are distributed across the tournament bracket by method of blind draw.

2.9.4. In drawing of athletes in the tournament bracket according to round-robin system a random seeding is applied.

2.9.5. No later than 1 hour following the Admission Committee the head judge should approve the tournament brackets in each weight category indicating the starting time of the fights. Tournament brackets and fights schedule should be attached in the locations stipulated by the organizers for general use.

2.10 EQUIPMENT

2.10.1. Differences in sports outfit in different age groups have no fundamental changes in the essence of the sport and are aimed at creating conditions for the competitors' safety.

Chapter 3. STRUCTURE AND DURATION OF A FIGHT

3.1. POSITION OF PARTICIPANTS IN THE RING

3.1.1. In the fights on mixed martial arts (MMA) competitors are allowed to apply the whole range of techniques and actions of martial arts, both in standing position and on the floor (ground position) with existing restrictions in different age groups, specified in these Rules.

3.1.2. "Stand up" position - the participant touches the surface of the ring, wrestling mat (tatami) only with his feet. Any technical actions initiated in the "Stand up" position and leading to lifting from the floor (hit in a jump or grip of opponent) are equated to the "stand up".

3.1.3. "Ground" position - participant touches the surface of the ring, mat (tatami) with any other part of the body other than a foot or feet.

3.1.4. "Stand-up fight" – both participants are in the “Stand up” position.

3.1.5. "Ground fight" – one or both participants are in "ground" position.

3.1.6. For age categories of participants fighting on a wrestling mat or tatami there is a term “Outside mat/tatami”:

- in “Stand up” position: one participant left the borders of the mat (tatami) with two feet;

- in "ground" position: the most part of the body (including the waistline) of one of the participants is beyond the border of a mat (tatami) and he does not touch the working (combat) area with any part of the body or was completely outside the combat area of a mat (tatami), except when the attacker is in the active phase of painful or submission hold, as well as during a pack of punches.

3.1.7. The time for active work in "ground" position is unlimited. If, in the opinion of the referee, ground fight is not active, the athletes are made a verbal warning "More active" and 10 seconds are counted.

3.1.8. After 10 seconds, if no active steps on the ground follow, the athletes shall be transferred to the “Stand up” position.

If one or both athletes in ground position may fall out or roll out of the ring (mat/tatami), the referee shall stop the fight not breaking the grip and not changing the position, turn the fighters with their heads to the center of the ring (mat/tatami) and continue the fight.

3.2. START AND END OF THE FIGHT

3.2.1. Prior to start of the fight the following sequence should be used:

- Call of athletes to the ring (mat/tatami). The fighter is called first to the blue corner, second - to the red corner. In the presence of participants or referee in the ring (mat/tatami), the judge shall examine athletes for compliance with the Rules regarding their equipment.

- By the referee's gesture the athletes meet in the center of the ring (mat/tatami).

- Referee reminds the fight participants of the necessity to adhere to the Competition Rules. Athletes shake hands and go to their corners of the ring (mat/tatami).

3.2.2. According to the referee's command: hand gesture and voice command "Fight" - there is the gong, which is a signal for the start of the fight.

3.2.3. The fight is interrupted at the referee's command "Stop!"

3.2.4. End of the fight or round is made on the basis of gong strike (sound signal of the judge-time keeper) and is doubled by the referee's "Stop!" command in the ring

3.2.5. The fight is considered completed if:

- time of the fight has expired;
- if knock-out has been registered;
- if technical knock-out has been registered;
- if one of the athletes has surrendered indicating his surrender with voice or clapping with a palm (tap out);
- when seconds throw a towel in the ring (mat/tatami);
- if one of the athletes leaves the ring (mat/tatami) intentionally without permission of the referee during the fight;
- after disqualification of one or both athletes;
- if an athlete refuses to continue the fight;
- if in the referee's opinion a painful hold led or may lead to injury of an athlete in the ring (mat/tatami) (the referee stops the fight in the ring (mat/tatami));

3.2.6. The fight is ended by the doctor's decision. If the referee has stopped the fight and invited the doctor for determining an opportunity for an athlete to continue the fight, the doctor's decision shall be final.

3.3. FIGHT DURATION

3.3.1. Duration and number of rounds in the fight depend on a stage of competition and age groups. Preliminary fights, fights of the main draw and final fights are considered as the competition stages.

3.3.2. All bouts up to 1/8 (preliminary bouts) are 1 round 3 minutes.

3.3.3 In 12-13 years' age category the length and number of rounds of the fight doesn't depend on the competition stage and remain unchanged.

3.3.4. Duration and the number of rounds of a fight depending on the competition stage:

Age	Preliminary fights	Main draw	Final
12-13 years old	1 round - 3 min.	1 round - 3 min.	1 round - 3 min.
14-15 years old	1 round – 2 min.	2 rounds 2 min. each	2 rounds 2 min. each
16-17 years old	1 round - 3 min.	2 rounds 3 min. each	2 rounds 3 min. each
18-20 years old	1 round - 3 min.	2 rounds 3 min. each	2 rounds 5 min. each
Adult	1 round - 3 min.	2 rounds 3 min. each	2 rounds 5 min. each

3.3.5. Intervals between rounds are always 1 min.

3.3.6. In the age groups under 18 years an optional extra round is not assigned. The winner of the fight is determined by the result of the last round.

3.3.7. In the age group of participants of 18-20 years old and 18 years (juniors and adults) and older an additional extra round can be assigned if the first two rounds ended in a draw. Duration of an extra-round in the main draw fights is 3 minutes, and in the final fight is 5 minutes.

3.3.8. Only 1 fight is held within the rating (professional) tournament between the athletes; Duration of the rating (professional) MMA fight depends on the athlete's contract signed with the promotion company holding the tournament:
- SELECTION fights (for beginners) - 3 rounds of 5 minutes without an extra round.

- CHALLENGE fights (for professionals) - 3 rounds of 5 minutes, an additional round of 5 minutes is possible.

- CHALLENGE title fights (championship fights) - 5 rounds of 5 minutes, 2 additional rounds of 5 minutes are possible.

If there is a draw at the end of the fight regular time, an additional 5- minute round is given. If after an extra round a decision still may not be accepted, the fight ends in a draw. Exceptions are CHALLENGE fights and title fights for the Crown, where judges are required to name the winner after an extra round.

3.3.9. Time of the fights is actual. When the fight is stopped by the ring referee's command, the timekeeper stops the countdown and resumes it upon "Fight" command of the referee in the ring (mat/tatami). A participant is given no more than 2 minutes during one match for medical assistance and troubleshooting in the outfit.

3.3.10. Number of fights an athlete takes part in during one day:

- in age groups of participants of 18-20 years old and 18 years and older – not more than 3 fights during one competition day not taking into account preliminary fights. Interval between fights should be not less than 90 min.
- in age groups of participants under 18 years old – not more than 5 fights during a day. Interval between fights should be no less than 40 min.

Part 2. CONTENT OF A FIGHT, EVALUATION OF TECHNICAL ACTIONS

Chapter 4. GENERAL PROVISIONS

4.1. The differences in the content of fights conducted by age groups are based on the number of permitted and prohibited technical actions provided that they are interpreted and realized in a unified manner. - All actions stated in par. 5.3.3.
- All kicks to the opponent's head in "Stand up" position;
- All strikes on the opponent's head, body, legs in the "ground" position.

Chapter 6. ASSESSMENT OF TECHNICAL ACTIONS OF ATHLETES

6.1.1. The rating system of technical actions is applied to all age groups of participating athletes applied for the competition in this sport.

6.1.2. Scoring procedure:

- | | |
|---|--|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Any transfer of an opponent from the stand-up to the ground by body drops (not lifting feet from the ring floor, mat/tatami); - Throw with lifting feet from the ring floor, mat | |
|---|--|

(tatami) - Takedown by a blow, which resulted in attacker's taking the dominant position for more than 3 seconds or continuing the attack	1 point
- Accented blow with a hand, kick, knee strike to the allowed zone that was not protected	1 point
- Any technical action that led to competitor's shock - Efficient technical action that increases the fight's visual appeal (high-amplitude throw, precise accented blow, etc.)	2 points

6.1.3. Strikes that according to the side arbiter, caused no visible harm to the opponent or trapped in defense are not estimated;

6.1.4. Attempts to make painful and submission holds are not estimated.

6.1.5. Lifting the opponent in "ground" position from the ring surface and his takedown to the same position is not considered a throw.

6.1.6. All transfers, body drops and throws allowed by the Rules with an opponent touching the ring (mat/tatami) with any part of his body, except for his feet and head, after which the attacking fighter dominates, i.e. controls the position of his opponent and continues to fight or prepares a position for a further attack or painful or submission hold are counted.

6.1.7. Only strikes/kicks allowed by the Rules are counted that lead to visible damages of the opponent, visible deviations of the opponent's body parts, stopping of the attacking opponent, deflection of the opponent from the attack/defense line, as well as the strikes, after which the opponent goes to depth defense (a state close to knockdown).

6.1.8. Activity means the permitted technical actions, not meeting the criteria of assessment in points. Activity is fixed in the scoresheets and affects determination of the fight winner, in case of equality of the athletes' scores upon completion of the main and extra round of the fight.

According to this criterion is evaluated an athlete dominating in both posture and ground. Activity is considered as

- attacking actions throughout the entire fight or round;
- a fighter's aspiration to complete the fight beforehand;

- damages, inflicted to the competitor (damage);
- stand-up and ground fight and its control.

In case of mutual "ground" fighting, a referee shall record and show with his gesture the beginning of an active phase of "painful" or "submission" hold, when the grip of the attacked part of the body is fully completed and recorded for further implementation of the final part of painful or submission hold. (REFEREE'S OBLIGATIONS).

6.1.9. Painful and submission holds, in "ground" position started on the ring (mat/tatami) are allowed to be made beyond the ropes of the ring or outside the mat/tatami, if the attacking person is in the active phase of the technique prior to completion of the started technique or action.

6.1.10. If an athlete produces any sound (shouting, screaming) when a painful and submission hold is made to him, a defeat is awarded to him.

6.1.11. After each completed round of the fight, if the fight was not ended inside the distance, each side arbiter writes down in the score-sheet the final mark for the technical actions applied by an athletes during the round.

6.1.12. For each completed round the winner receives 10 points; the loser receives 9 points. If the round is over with 10:10 score, it is considered a DRAW.

6.1.13. For using the prohibited action, for which an official warning was made with showing a yellow card, the athlete receiving a penalty will have 1 point struck off from the final mark for the relevant round.

6.1.14. If the side arbiter or the head of the ring or mat/tatami agrees with the official warning and showing of the yellow card made by the referee to one of the fight participants for a particular violation, he makes "Y" mark in the score-sheet box "official warning". He has to raise a hand which shows his agreement with referee's decision. If he does not agree, he makes "N" mark. If the side arbiter does not agree with the referee's warning, he does not subtract a point from the athlete's assessment for the round and does not raise his hand.

At the end of the fight each side arbiter sums up final marks and records the total amount of points in the score-sheet.

Chapter 7. DISCIPLINARY MEASURES: COMMENTS, WARNINGS, DISQUALIFICATIONS

7.1. If a participant (participants) makes prohibited action or attempts to make it a referee shall act proceeding from the necessity:

- to ensure safety of the athletes;
- to disallow a violating athlete from gaining advantage;
- to prevent violation depending on its character (primary or repeated (systematic), unintended or intentional, not dangerous or dangerous for health and life).

7.2. Depending on the indicated circumstances the following disciplinary actions should be applied to a transgressor:

- verbal warning;
- official warning (a yellow card);
- disqualification.

7.3. A verbal warning is announced at the primary/unintended making of a prohibited action, not causing significant damage to the opponent.

Note: The referee has the right to announce a verbal warning, not stopping the fight, or interfering into the position and stop violation with or without a verbal warning. (Side arbiters mark a verbal warning announced by the referee in the score-sheet).

7.4. Official warning (a yellow card) is announced to an athlete:

- for especially flagrant prohibited action, after a verbal warning;
- for unsportsmanlike conduct (wrangling with the judges, doctors, disrespect of the opponents, spectators, etc., as the athlete and team representatives).

7.5. The decision on the application of disciplinary measures for violation of rules and unsportsmanlike conduct is adopted by the head judge of the competition as advised by the head of the ring and representatives of the "injured party".

7.6. In making a formal warning (showing a yellow card) the referee shall stop the fight and announce it verbally to an athlete and head of the ring about, and by showing a yellow card to the violator, the head of the ring and the side arbiters.

7.7. After making a formal warning (yellow card) the fight continues in the stand-up position or in the position worst to a violator restored in the center of the ring, mat/tatami.

7.8. Athlete may be disqualified:

- after the second official warning (2 yellow cards);

- as a result of illegal hold, after which the opponent may not continue the fight by the doctor's decision;
 - if 2 minutes prescribed for medical assistance are not enough for the participant;
- for feigning injury, time delay and cheating the judges;
- by the decision of the head judge, for unsportsmanlike conduct during the fight with respect to opponent, judges, and audience;
- by the decision of the head judge in case of threats to referees or judges.

7.9. The decision to suspend the athletes is recorded in the score-sheet.

7.10. If an athlete shows unsportsmanlike behavior towards his opponents, referees, spectators, and the seconds and coaches of this athlete do not react or support such athlete the entire team will be disqualified from the competition without qualification of a place in the overall standings.

7.11. A participant exempted from the competition for gross violations and noncompliance with ethical standards and unsportsmanlike conduct:

- loses individual results (wins) achieved in fights of the current competition; these results will be canceled and not counted in determining the team championship.

7.12. Ending of the fight due to disqualification of one or both athletes, as well as if one of the athletes uses the prohibited action according to the rules of professional MMA (rating fights):

When one or both fighters are disqualified for a prohibited action, or when the judges and/or a promoter decide to end the fight in connection with the incident outside or within the ring, or an incident occurs in the first round, which makes it impossible for one or both fighters to continue to fight - this fight is declared invalid. However, if an incident occurred after the first or subsequent rounds of the fight, a decision should be made on the basis of the first round or subsequent rounds, which took place before the incident.

Chapter 8. TYPES OF WINS

For all age groups and weight categories a single systematization of types of wins is applied:

A win of one opponent over another is considered:

A) Win by points:

- Unanimous decision of the judge panel;

- Separate decision of the judge panel.

B) Win inside the distance:

- Knock-out win;

Note: An athlete who has obtained a knock-out is withdrawn from the competitions.

A win with a painful hold;

- A win with a submission hold;
- A win with a technical knock-out;
- Technical win – withdrawal by a doctor;
- Victory by virtue of a competitor’s disqualification;
- A win in view of failure to appear to the fight.

Chapter 9. DECLARING A WINNER

9.1. Upon completion of the fight, both athletes are placed in the center of the ring, mat, and the referee takes them by the hand and upon declaration of the ring manager or informing judge of the fight results, and raises the hand of the winner.

9.2. The result of the fight is declared in the following manner:

- inside the distance win in the fight: «In... minutes/ seconds with a armlock (strangulation), knock-out, technical knock-out the victory was won by the athlete in red (blue) corner of the ring (surname, name, sports club, city, country).

- win by the decision of the judges: «Upon unanimous (separate) decision of the judges (decision of the majority) victory was one by the athlete in red (blue) corner of the ring ((surname, name, sports club, city, country);

- upon removing the opponent from the fight or from the competitions; “Regarding injury (disqualification) of the opponent the win is awarded to the athlete in red (blue) corner of the ring (surname, name, sports club, city, country).

Chapter 10. PROTEST

10.1.1. A protest following the results of the fight (Protest) may be submitted by team representative, coach of an athlete in connection with disagreement with the result of the fight or flagrant violation of Rules at refereeing.

10.2 PROTEST FILING PROCEDURE:

10.2.1. A protest is filed by the team representative to a head judge immediately after the fight with an indication of the article and paragraph of the Rules, which was broken.

10.2.2. All complaints to refereeing, and protests to decisions are filed in writing to the head judge of the competition no later than 10 minutes after the end of a controversial fight. The head judge considers a protest within 15 minutes from the time of its filing. The fight result may be changed following consideration of the protest.

10.2.3. According to the Regulations of an organizing authority of MMA competitions, paragraph 12 (protests) - a party who has filed a protest shall transfer to the head judge a deposit amount specified in the regulations of the National MMA federation in accordance with the provision on the competition being held, which is transferred by the head judge to the settlement account of the National MMA federation if the protest is rejected. If a tournament is international such amount is transferred to the settlement account of the MMA World Association (WMMAA).

10.2.4. The protest must indicate details and substantiated reasons for dissatisfaction. It shall also indicate names and surnames of individuals, whose decision led to a protest, names and surnames of the participants of the fight.

10.2.5. Judges (appeals) commission shall have the right to meet the protests that have sufficient grounds. The grounds may be as follows:

- violation of the rules of refereeing,
- violation of article and paragraph of the rules,
- biased attitude of judges to an athlete.

10.2.6. A necessary basis for consideration of the protest is the fight video provided by the organizer or the objector.

10.2.7. The protest on the regular time of the fight is not taken into account after an additional extra round (if the seconds or athlete representatives do not agree with the decision of the judging panel after the main 2 rounds of the fight). The result of the fight is not changed after a win is declared by the head of the ring or informing judge after an extra round.

10.2.8. If the Chairman of the national panel of judges or head judge finds that the members of the judge panel abuse their powers to change the outcome of the fight, they can examine the video provided by the organizer or the objector in a separate dedicated room, and, with the consent of the leaders of the National MMA federation (MMA World Association (WMMAA)) apply sanctions in accordance with the provisions of the Regulations on competitions.

10.2.9. Filing a protest to the appointment of additional extra rounds:

- In this case a protest is filed immediately after announcement of an extra round by the head of the ring (mat/tatami). The fact of the protest is an oral statement. The protest shall be considered within 15 minutes. The procedural issues are solved in parallel (deposit amount, written execution). The break is announced in the ring (mat). Athletes remain in the ring (on the mat/tatami) before making a decision. If the protest is satisfied - the winner is declared. If the protest is rejected - an extra round is held.

10.2.10. A protest on extra round is filed in the usual manner.

10.2.11. If a protest is accepted, it is considered by the full judicial panel (appeals commission), which makes the final decision by simple majority. In considering the protest a video of the fight is studied.

10.2.12. If a filed protest is satisfied the head judge may make the following decisions:

- Refuse to hold an extra round and determine the winner on the basis of two regular rounds;
- Appointment of extra round (if athletes have not left the ring, mat, tatami);
- Reconsidering the results of a fight;
- Applying disciplinary measures, up to penalty sanctions to the judges which have allowed violations.

10.3. A PROTEST TO THE REFEREE'S ACTIONS IN THE RING (MAT/TATAMI)

10.3.1. A protest to referee's actions in the ring (mat) may be filed only for disregarding of systematic application of prohibited actions by one or two fight participants, not entailing official warning (a yellow card).

10.3.2. A protest to an extra round (upon satisfaction of the filed protest to referee's actions/inaction in the ring (mat/tatami) is accepted if an official warning (a yellow card) announced to one of the fighters could result in winning of the party filing the protest following the results of two rounds.

10.3.3. The decision to impose disciplinary sanctions on the referee in the ring (on the mat/tatami) (by satisfying this protest to the referee's action/inaction in the ring (on the mat/tatami) is made in case of violations of paragraphs of these Rules that influenced the outcome of the fight.

10.4. PROTEST TO THE DECISION OF A PANEL OF JUDGES

10.4.1. A protest to the decision of the panel of judges at the end of the fight may be filed only if judges have taken a separate decision.

10.4.2. Upon satisfaction of the protest filed the decision is made to hold an extra round and imposing disciplinary measures to judges who have breached.

10.5. CONSIDERATION OF PROTESTS

10.5.1. The commission for consideration of the protest aims to settle the disputes that may arise during the competition associated with:

- lack of equal conditions for athletes during the competition;
- illegal work of the panel of judges;
- illegal work of a single judge;
- illegal work of the referee in the ring (on the mat).

10.5.2. In case of accepting a protest to violation of the Rights at refereeing the fight, it is considered by the head judge, involving the panel of judges who do not participate in judging this fight, as well as representatives of the parties concerned (without the right to discuss the protest).

10.5.3. The head judge makes the final decision of which the parties concerned are informed.

10.5.4. If the protest is satisfied the prepaid amount is returned to the party filing the protest.

10.5.5. A protest against the head judge of the competition (or the entire panel of judges) at the regional level and below is filed to the Chairman of the regional panel of judges (RPJ). A protest against the head judge or the entire panel of judges (at the level of the federal competition and higher) is filed to the Chairman of the WMMAA.

PART 3

Chapter 11. JUDGES, THEIR POWERS AND OBLIGATIONS

11.1 GENERAL PROVISIONS:

11.1.1. APPENDICES

Those athletes, who have in their sports career more than 5 rating (professional) fights are not allowed to take part in the competitions in Mixed martial arts (MMA) for amateurs (non-professional level).

A rating (professional) fight is defined by the following criteria:

- the competitors are well-known to each other;
- within the tournament between the competitors only 1 fight is held;
- an official rating of an athlete is held.

The following web-resources are the main source for looking through the rating list of an athlete for determining the quantity of professional fights: www.sherdog.com, www.mixedmartialarts.com and www.valetudo.ru.

WMMAA and National Federations are entitled to designate a list of promotion and commercial organizations holding rating (professional) fights in the regulations.

RATING (PROFESSIONAL) FIGHT AND FIGHT BY THE RULES OF AMATEUR MMA (SIMILARITIES AND DIFFERENCES)

Rating (professional) combat in MMA and a combat by the rules of amateur MMA have no fundamental differences, as they are one sport, but they have some differences:

1- the format of MMA fights is characterized by the fact that in rating (professional) fights the competitors known each other in advance:

Each athlete participating in rating (professional) tournaments in MMA maintains a list of fights held (RECORD): number of wins, defeats, draws, based on which (the list) his (the athlete's) individual rating is determined. The athlete's rating may vary depending on further participation in the MMA tournament and the number of wins and defeats.

Promotion companies, federations and sports clubs complete and provide a database which includes athletes aged 18 years and older with a sports category not less than CM in the disciplines, including striking and wrestling techniques, indicate the number of fights spent, provide information about the participants and the winners of the international MMA tournaments, and further distribute their weight categories:

Bantamweight – 61.2 kg
Featherweight – 65.8 kg
Lightweight -70.3 kg (155 lbs);
Welterweight -77.1 kg (170 lbs);
Middleweight -84.0 kg (185 lbs);
Light heavyweight -93.0 kg (205 lbs);
Heavyweight +93 kg (+205 lbs).

An athlete's coach or his promoter (representative) shall conclude a contract with an organization holding the next MMA tournament, which outlines all the conditions, which are binding for both parties, indicate the date and venue of the tournament. A promotional company holding the tournament shall report to athlete's representatives all the data about the opponent, as well as all information about all his (athlete's) fights, which can be seen in the web-site covering the events related to the MMA. The format of rating (professional) tournaments – 1 (one) fight for a tournament between the stated athletes to determine the winner.

According to the rules of amateur MMA in mixed martial arts athletes do not know their opponent in advance, but there is a drawing procedure for the competitors, where fights are held on the Olympic system with the participant's elimination after the first defeat, as well as on round-robin system, when all the stated competitors in this weight category fight with each other.

2 – Permitted and prohibited technical actions in the fights specified in the rules of amateur MMA and professional MMA are identical, allowing the athletes beginning their career in amateur MMA future to go to the class of professionals and participate in rating (professional) fights held by promotion companies.

3 – Venue of the MMA amateur fights is a ring. Also, as an exception, participants of younger age categories may have a wrestling mat (tatami).

The venue of the rating (professional) fights is a ground provided by the organizing authority – it could be a ring, cage, cell (octagon).

4 – Number of rounds and time of the fights (regulations):

According to the rules of amateur MMA fights are held according to the rules of competitions:

regular time of preliminary (qualifying) fights – 2 rounds of 3 minutes each with possible extra round of 3 minutes;

regular time of final fights – 2 rounds of 5 minutes each with possible extra round of 5 minutes.

Only 1 fight is held within the rating (professional) tournament between the athletes.

Duration of the rating (professional) MMA fight depends on the athlete's contract signed with the promotion company holding the tournament:
- SELECTION fights (for beginners) – 3 rounds of 5 minutes without an extra round.

- CHALLENGE fights (for professionals) – 3 rounds of 5 minutes, an additional round of 5 minutes is possible.

- CHALLENGE title fights (championship fights) – 5 rounds of 5 minutes, 2 additional rounds of 5 minutes are possible.

If there is a draw at the end of the fight regular time, an additional 5- minute round is given. If after an extra round a decision still may not be accepted, the fight ends in a draw. Exceptions are CHALLENGE fights and title fights for the Crown, where judges are required to name the winner after an extra round.

5- Ending of the fight due to disqualification of one or both athletes, as well as if one of the athletes uses the prohibited action according to the rules of professional MMA (rating fights):

When one or both fighters are disqualified for a prohibited action, or when the judges and/or a promoter decide to end the fight in connection with the incident outside or within the ring, or an incident occurs in the first round, which makes it impossible for one or both fighters to continue to fight – this fight is declared invalid. However, if an incident occurred after the first or subsequent rounds of the fight, a decision should be made on the basis of the first round or subsequent rounds, which took place before the incident.

During MMA competitions among amateur athletes one or both athletes are disqualified according to the rules of the competition approved by the Ministry of Sport or other National Federations authorized for adoption and approval of the MMA rules.

6 – Evaluation criteria for judicial decisions for technical actions of athletes made during the fight by the rules of professional MMA (rating fights):

The criteria are as follows:

1. Attempt to finish the fight by knock-out or inside the distance.
2. Damage caused
3. Stand-up combinations and control in ground position.
4. Transfers and protection
5. Aggressiveness.
6. The difference in weight (15 kilograms or more in heavyweight).
(If an athlete weighs 15kg less than in heavyweight, he has an advantage. It is estimated only in case of equality on other criteria).

7 – Coaching staff (the seconds and the representatives of an athlete during the fight):

Maximum three seconds (during MMA competitions) not more than two persons) are allowed at the ringside. They should sit during the fight, only one is allowed to instruct. There should be no violent behavior or shouting, only instructions are allowed. It's not allowed to help the fighter by knocking on the ring floor or pulling the ropes. During the fight it's forbidden to come up to the ring, unless a referee gives a special permission to do so. Misconduct or coming up to the ring without the permission may be followed by a disqualification. Only a doctor is allowed to come up to the ring without a consultation with the referee.

8 – There are some differences between amateur and professional MMA in athletes' equipment. Equipment of participants in rating (professional) fights consist of:

- gloves approved by an organizing authority;
- shorts without locks, zippers and metal objects;
- bandage;
- gum shield/ mouth guard.

Equipment of participants in amateur MMA fights consist of:

- gloves at least five ounces;
- shorts without locks, zippers and metal objects;
- shin guards approved by the national federation holding the competitions;
- open safety helmet (for competitors under 21);
- bandage;
- gum shield/ mouth guard.

These similarities and differences between amateur and professional MMA are applied in relation to competitions and tournaments held in the framework and in coordination with the National MMA federation, the WMMAA World Association, as well as tournaments organized and held by the M-1 League.
